South West College

South West College received funding for their “Growing Together” biodiversity initiative, engaging 1,590 students and volunteers in planting native species to enhance the local ecosystem. The project, covering 2 hectares, fostered environmental awareness through workshops on biodiversity and sustainability. Participants took part in tree planting and hands-on activities, building civic pride and a stronger connection to nature. The project has inspired lasting behavioural change and earned recognition with a Beacon Award commendation, leaving a legacy of environmental stewardship and community involvement.
